STREET IMPROVEMENT HERE IS PROGRESSING RAPIDLY AS POSSIBLE

Expected that Work Allotted for this Year Will be Practically Completed

ASPHALT PLANT TO BE USED HERE SHIPPED FROM CHICAGO

Seventy-three Blocks of Carpet
Coating are Completed

THAT the street improvement work in the city under contract of the White Construction company of Chicago is progressing as rapidly as possible and that the work allotted for this year will be practically completed was the announcement of W. J. Fries of the board of public works on Friday.

The construction crew at the present time is laying concrete base on Cass street and with the progress of water pipe installation it was expected that Cass street would be completed this year as far as Twenty-third street. Seventeenth street, from Cass to Market was also expected to be completed this fall. Up to the present time concrete base, preparatory to laying the asphalt wearing course, has been laid in Ninth street, from Cass to Jackson streets, Fourth street, from Jackson to Mormon College road, Seventh street, from State to Cass streets, and Cass street from Seventeenth to Nineteenth streets.

It was expected that with the arrival of sufficient quantities of cement, the curb and gutter work on the north side would also be completed. It was stated that the asphalt plant had been shipped from Chicago and was expected to arrive any day. Once the concrete base is installed, completion of the streets by laying the asphalt wearing surface would not take long, it was announced.

With the completion of two blocks on the north side, the city's task of carpet coating would easily be finished this week. A total of seventy-three blocks of streets has been resurfaced this year, thirty-one blocks of which has been carpet coating, six blocks of penetration and thirty-six blocks of seal coating.

At present the board of public works is employing two crews of workmen making permanent repairs on brick pavement throughout the city where the streets have been torn up by the light company.

TRIBUNE CROP CONTEST WILL CLOSE MONDAY

As announced in Thursday's issue of the Tribune, the big crop contest is now open. The last three will be judged by weight, on the principle that the heaviest is the biggest.

Bring all exhibits to the Tribune office not later than next Monday evening, September 18. All must be marked plainly with the name and address of the exhibitors, and variety of the entry.

The entries in the contest will be placed on exhibition at the Interstate fair.

The premiums will be awarded at the fair grounds at four o'clock Friday afternoon, September 22.

The duties of his office will keep the attorney general in Madison for the next month.

BONES BARRED BY COURT AS EXHIBIT IN SAILSTAD CASE

University Expert on Stand to Testify on Remains Found in Fire

SUPERIOR, Wis.—Bones recovered from the ruins of a burned cabin at Lake Nebagamon, Wis., which counsel for Mrs. Leona Sailstad, Richardson contends are those of Edward J. Sailstad, missing Eau Claire, Wis., manufacturer, were barred from exposure in the court room here Friday by Federal Judge C. Z. Luse.

The court sustained an objection by counsel for the New York Life Insurance company, defendant in the suit to collect $10,000 insurance.

The defense objected when Dr. W. E. Sullivan, professor of anatomy at the University of Wisconsin, proceeded to unpack from a suitcase the bones he expected to use in explaining what bones he found in a box labelled "The remains of Edward J. Sailstad."

Judge Luse said he "doubted the propriety of bringing the bones into the court in any event."

The court Thursday barred from the court-room two human skeletons intended for use in connection with testimony by Dr. C. H. Bunting, University of Wisconsin pathologist.

Dr. Sullivan testified that the bones "unquestionably" were those of a male person. He explained to the jury that by working out the ratio of the length of the bones to the height of the body it was determined that they were of a person between five feet three inches and five feet seven inches in height. Sailstad's height was five feet, six inches.

Foster and his two associates were returned to their cells in default of bond.

BIG ROADS STAY OUT OF RAILWAY PEACE PROGRAM

Refusal to Join Throws Doubt on Effectiveness of Agreement Reached Wed-

CLERKS ON PENNSYLVANIA LINES THREATEN STRIKE

New York Central Signs Agreement With Conductors and Trainmen

CHICAGO, Ill.—Refusal by a number of the country's biggest railway systems to enter into the Warfield-Willard-Jewell plan for ending the shopmen's strike on the basis of separate and individual agreements developed an element of considerable uncertainty Friday over the scope and effectiveness of the peace program.

While some of the larger systems had flatly rejected the plan, others, however, notably the Chicago and Northwestern and the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, had virtually completed arrangements for restoring strikers to their former jobs under terms of the separate settlement plan.

Among the larger systems said to have closed the door against the settlement plan were:

Pennsylvania, Union Pacific, Norfolk and Western, Southern Pacific, Chicago and Alton, Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, Northern Pacific, Great Northern, Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, Missouri, Kansas and Texas, and subsidiary lines.

Other roads still outside the agreement included: Central of Georgia, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, Erie, Illinois Central, Louisville and Nashville, Missouri Pacific, Frisco, Wabash, Santa Fe, Chicago Great Western, and numerous others.

Fifty Roads Accept Plan

About fifty roads were generally understood to have accepted the settlement proposals with the Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio, New York Central, Southern, Chicago and Northwestern, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul among the larger systems in the agreement.

Members of the shop crafts executive council meeting here with Bert M. Jewell, head of the railway employees department of the American Federation of Labor were guarded in their statements concerning conferences among themselves and negotiations with roads still holding out against the settlement plan.

Meanwhile, Attorney General Daugherty's staff of lawyers in the injunction proceedings before Judge Wilkerson, speeded up efforts to complete their evidence Saturday.

Samuel Gompers and the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, the Atlantic City, launched plans for demanding the impeachment of Attorney General Daugherty and Judge Wilkerson because of the injunction proceedings.

Clerks Threaten Strike

WASHINGTON.—A hurried conference between officials of the labor department and the general chairman of the Brotherhood of Railroad Clerks, Freight Handlers and Ticket Sellers was held Friday at the labor department in an effort to avert a strike among such employees on the Pennsylvania system.

Sign Terms With Trainmen

NEW YORK.—By The Associated Press.—The entire New York Central railroad system Friday signed an agreement with its conductors and trainmen covering working conditions, wages and rules for one year beginning September 30.

The signing of the agreement was announced after a conference between A. H. Smith, president of the New York Central, W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and L. E. Sheppard, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Conductors.

A statement issued by the New York Central said that the direct settlement agreement would provide for the immediate withdrawal of all controversy on matters now pending before the U. S. labor board.

The road said it anticipated that forthcoming direct negotiations would result in similar agreements with the engineers, firemen and switchmen on all its lines.

"The New York Central management," said the statement, "feels that today's settlement is a happy augury of a better era in transportation."

It was understood that the settlement provides for a continuation of the existing wage rate with possible minor changes although the statement did not specifically make this announcement.

KEMAL THREATENS BRITAIN

GIVE UP CONSTANTINOPLE PEACEFULLY OR FIGHT, IS WARNING OF TURK LEADER

SMYRNA.—Warning that Turkey will fight Great Britain unless the city of Constantinople is surrendered was given in a statement by Mustapha Kemal Pasha on Wednesday.

"We don't want to fight Great Britain, but she must give up Constantinople," said the Turkish leader. "It is Turkey's capital, and we wish it peacefully, if possible. If not, we will fight."

"Our demands are unchanged by our victory," he continued. "We want nothing more nor less than what we have already asked. We stand upon the nationalist pact."

Ready for Peace Parley

Kemal expressed his willingness to meet the western powers in an immediate conference. "We have always been ready to meet them," he said, "but it is not us but the allies who have delayed settlement of the near east questions."

"Our demands are simple. The nationalist pact occupies less than a page. We want real independence over all the Turkish lands. For us capitulations no longer exist. We demand Constantinople, Adrianople, and that part of Thrace which is predominantly Turkish."

"We will make no exception. We cannot recognize any capitulations, whether they are juristic, financial, or military."

Denies Reports of Massacre

Discussing reported massacres in Smyrna, Kemal denied that there had been any serious disorders. "Such pillaging and killings as have occurred are inevitable," he declared. "When an army enters a city after marching 450 kilometers through their own land, burned and sacked, and having seen their parents and relatives slaughtered, it is difficult to control them. But control them we will. We don't wish any acts of revenge. We are not here to collect on past accounts, but to work for the future of Turkey. For us the acts of the past are finished."

MILWAUKEE RECEIVES OFFICIAL NEWS OF END OF RAIL STRIKE

Announcement of Settlement also Received by Strikers in Oshkosh and Madison

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Official announcement of the settlement of the strike on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad was received Friday by W. J. Tibble, general agent.

Similar word had not yet been received by Charles Thompson, general agent of the Chicago & Northwestern road, who reported Friday that no general return of the men to the local shops was apparent yet, but that he expected by Monday the unions would authorize the men to report for work.

At Oshkosh the following telegram announcing the end of the strike was received by the agent there:

"The shopmen's and carmen's strike has been settled on our road and called off. General chairmen will wire local chairmen."

Madison Strikers Return

MADISON, Wis.—Committees of railroad shopmen working on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway at Madison and Janesville, met with J. A. McDonald, divisional superintendent of the road, for a final conference before going back to work. The men are expected to return to their jobs at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Local difficulties were thrashed out at the conference Friday morning.

Workers on the Chicago & Northwestern railway here had not yet received orders to return to work.

ALLIES CONSIDERING MEANS OF DEALING WITH THE SITUATION

British Admiral Threatens Bombardment if Massacres Continue

CONSTANTINOPLE.—By The Associated Press.—Smyrna has been completely wrecked by the conflagration which has been raging there for the past two days, according to information from authentic sources reaching here. Thousands of persons are believed to have perished.

LONDON.—By The Associated Press.—The British fleet has been instructed to allow no Turkish troops to cross Asia to Europe, it was officially announced Friday evening.

It was announced that the British government considers the whole Turkish question should be the subject of a general conference of the powers, including the minor powers such as Rumania and Jugoslavia.

It has not been decided whether the United States shall be invited.

(By the Associated Press)

MASSACRES of far-reaching proportions are reported to have occurred at Smyrna, attending the terrible conflagration which has just swept the city.

The first reports came from Greek sources and estimated the victims as high as one thousand to two thousand. Later reports from British eye-witnesses and from Americans arriving at Greek ports tended to confirm the massacres and gave harrowing accounts of the extent of the devastation wrought.

An English agency dispatch declared the British admiral had warned the Turks at Smyrna that if the massacres continued the Turkish quarter would be bombarded.

A correspondent of Reuters arriving at Malta said hundreds of bodies of the victims were lying in the streets of Smyrna when he left and the pillaging and massacring were continuing. The Greeks were not blameless, he declared, as they had aroused the Turks by setting fire to villages during the retreat of the Greek army.

British Official Killed

The invasion of the British consulate at Smyrna by the Turks and the murder of an official there also were reported.

A Greek semi-official dispatch from Athens quoted an American investigator as estimating the number of victims up to the time of the fire in Smyrna at 1,000. The property lost from the fire is estimated in the Greek quarters at $75,000,000.

Meanwhile, the various European chancelleries are considering measures to deal with the political developments of the Turkish victory, including the calling of a peace conference to settle the Near Eastern question. It seems probable the Turks will be given a joint allied warning to respect the neutrality of the Constantinople district in the meantime, and not march upon that city nor invade Thrace.

City is Burning

SMYRNA.—By The Associated Press.—The fire which started in the Armenian quarter of Smyrna early Thursday afternoon had spread Friday morning to the Turkish section of the city and was making rapid headway.

The entire European section is in ashes and countless thousands are homeless. There were many hundreds of casualties among persons who were caught in the sections where the flames spread with greatest rapidity. Fourteen naturalized Americans are missing but all the American-born are accounted for. Ten of them are in the suburbs with American and Turkish guards.

LOOK FOR NEW AIR RECORDS IN RACES FOR PULITZER CUP

Predict Attainment of Speed of More than Two Hundred Miles an Hour

TWENTY-EIGHT PLANES ENTERED FOR CONTESTS OF OCTOBER 14

Twenty-three are Entered from U. S. Army and Navy

DETROIT, Mich.—A speed of 200 miles an hour, the highest ever attained by man, will be recorded here during the Pulitzer air races, October 14, according to predictions made by army and navy officers who have made arrangements for the event.

This speed, according to the authorities from Washington, is 300 feet a second, or one-fourth the muzzle velocity of a .45 calibre bullet, one of the swiftest of projectiles. They added another comparison by saying the planes in this contest will fly almost at a speed four times as great as the fastest average speed of any express train on the continent.

The two branches of the government service have entered twenty-three planes in the Pulitzer race, bringing the total entry list to twenty-eight.

The Pulitzer Trophy race, the culmination of a series of aerial contests extending over a period of several days, will start from Selfridge field, near Mt. Clemens. The course is triangular and measures approximately forty miles. The Pulitzer race entrants must cover this course four times without a stop. According to naval and army officers the specially built planes now being made ready for the race should establish new records.

Four air events in addition to the Pulitzer Trophy competition are scheduled for Detroit and vicinity during October. The first of these will be on Lake St. Clair, Saturday, October 7. The chief event at the opening event will be the Curtiss Marine Flying Trophy race, including only over-water craft as entrants. The distance to be flown is about 160 miles, eight times around a closed triangular course of twenty miles. Twelve flying boats are entered.

The second national Aero Congress will be held here October 12, 13 and 14. Overland races will be held during the congress. Two of these

READY FOR CROSS-COUNTRY TRIP—NO STOPS

DAYTON, O.—If gasoline placed in space formerly occupied by eight passengers holds out and with good flying luck, Lieut. Oakley G. Kelly and E. W. Ditchman expect to accomplish what has hitherto baffled aviators—a non-stop flight from New York to San Francisco. They will use a Fokker transport monoplane. The "hop off" is scheduled for some time this month.

The plane is equipped with one 400-horsepower Liberty motor and has a fuel supply of 725 gallons of gasoline. It has a speed of 100 miles an hour and a wing spread of 75 feet.

Races are set for October 12. They are the Detroit News aerial mail trophy race for large capacity multi-motored airplanes and the Aviation Country Club of Detroit trophy race for observation type (two passenger) planes will be held. Other aerial exhibitions and contests will be held and in these the first United States army pursuit group, stationed at Selfridge field, will play a large part.

The pursuit group, it has become known, is the nucleus for the advanced fighting air force of the American army and is being enlarged rapidly. New machines are arriving each week and it has been learned the Detroit district is to be the army's aerial headquarters, at least during summer months. The group some time ago was brought here from Texas.

The day of the Pulitzer race will be a municipal holiday in Detroit. Prominent national figures, including President Harding, Secretary Hoover, Secretary Weeks and Secretary Denby, the latter a Detrouer, have been invited.

The aero congress is expected to bring together representatives of sixty American cities interested in creating a permanent national aeronautical association to develop aviation both commercially and for national defense.

THE "BULLS" AND "BEARS" OF FINANCE

The origin of the stock exchange terms "bulls" and "bears," has never been satisfactorily explained. The phrase is of great antiquity, and can be traced in one of Chaucer's plays produced in 1720, when the Exchange was still known as "New Jonathan's." It has been suggested that "bear" is a reference to the selling of the bear's skin before killing the bear, while a "bull" is supposed to be a speculator who buys stock for forward delivery in the hope that the price will rise so that he can sell out at a profit without taking up and paying for the

BATH LIFE

HE that bath the Son hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life.—1 John 5: 12.

The Independents

IT IS difficult to understand the political philosophy back of Attorney General Wm. J. Morgan's independent candidacy for governor. Possibly the casual observer will interpret it as evidence that Mr. Morgan is "a hog for punishment."

Viewed from the standpoint of practicability, it is probable that the sponsors of this independent movement are convinced that there exists in Wisconsin an analogy to recent North Dakota history. There a purely partisan republican fight against the Nonpartisan League failed. Following this a combination of democrats and anti-league republicans waged a victorious recall election against the Nonpartisan League.

Perhaps impressed by the logic of the Milwaukee Journal, which from the outset urged that the 44 Committee should have been non-partisan, as well as by the above experience in North Dakota, it may have occurred to Mr. Morgan and his associates that, Wisconsin democrats having failed to poll enough votes to get on the official ballot, a coalition of anti-La Follette republicans and democrats would succeed in November.

We can reach only the opposite conclusion. In the primary the bulk of Wisconsin democrats deserted their own party, which presented an active contest for the governorship, in order to vote for La Follette and Blaine. If they would leave their party when it had a contest in order to support the La Follette progressives, how much more surely will they vote the La Follette ticket in November when they have no contest of their own whatever!

Neither Senator La Follette nor Governor Blaine can raise an ethical point against Mr. Morgan's independent candidacy, for Senator La Follette has frequently encouraged primary bolts, and Governor Blaine himself was once an independent candidate for governor. They have therefore no special right to criticize, and probably their interest will be directed only to the question of the importance of the independent movement. Doubtless they are losing little sleep about it.

However, there is an entirely different viewpoint, which is of importance. It involves the question of the right of the majority to rule. In the recent primary the people of Wisconsin spoke in a decisive manner. They are the court of last resort. Quite irrespective of whether history shall prove the decision of the majority to have been sound, it should stand and it will stand. This is a fundamental of democracy. For an overwhelmed minority to challenge it is more than futile—it is absurd.

Not Both Ways

AMERICAN relief workers in Russia are followed into the famine district by propagandists from the soviet government, who by flaming postcards and speeches endeavor to show the Russian people that the American relief is really a tribute of fear from American capitalists. They declare that revolutionary groups in the United States have forced American capitalists to contribute millions to the relief of Russia under threat of a red rebellion here.

That is, of course, funny. It seems impossible that any people could be stupid enough to believe such bunk, and probably a good share of the Russian people accept it with reservations. But on the other hand the Russians have a bolshevik government, which is pretty fair evidence of stupidity and the power of bunk over their minds. Perhaps the Reds are getting away with it.

In the territory where the Near East Relief operates the soviets are reported to be in charge, practically, of the work done by American money. Where it is spent, how it is spent, and control of the factories established by American funds to supply work for the stricken inhabitants are asserted to be under the thumb of the bolsheviks. Much of the food sent, it is declared, is taken for the Red army. All around, the bolsheviks are missing no possibility of turning American assistance to their own advantage.

Americans do not like the sound of this. We gave liberally of government and private funds to keep the Russians from starving, but we had no idea of subsidizing the bolsheviks. We do not like to be bullied, and we do not like to be cheated. If our relief agencies are being bullied and cheated, and our generosity twisted about to appear as grudging yielding to threat and fear, we shall soon be ready to quit. Russia has nothing we want, but there are a number of things we can do for Russia and which she has been trying to get us to do. The soviets would be well advised to let American relief workers alone and quit throwing mud at the reputation of this country if they have any expectation of further American aid, either in the way of relief or in material assistance to the recovery of Russia.

ALL

By MARTHA McCULLOCH-
WILLIAMS

There must, after all, be something in a man's mind. Else why should the excellent Miss Josefa Gusset wrest a living-room fate at the point of the needle, shears helping, of course? This was magnanimous, if that quality can be predicated of things inanimate, since gussets came to the help of garment shapings in the elder times when shears were scarce and costly possessions. Neck gussets, sleeve and tail gussets gave rises and stretches where plain fabric would have quickly torn, to say nothing of binding uncomfortably. Gussets, too, made for economy—no small consideration where every all of woven fabric came from the handloom by help of the spinning wheel.

Miss Josefa never thought of such things—she took life and living on the surface—her name included. Not strange considering that she knew precious little of gussets actual—instead she was in bondage to patterns—tissue paper preferred, with holes and notches so plain you could hardly go wrong, unless you had been born with a genius for mistakes. Alice Lucy Lee, whose home name was All, derived from her initials, had that genius to an extent that was heroic. Aunt Josefa said often if there were twenty ways of doing a thing wrong, all would try every one of them, but never blunder on the right one.

She surely tried hard to follow patterns. If instead she had been free to follow fancy, there might have been another story, but hardly one with a happier ending. This came to pass through a strenuous ordering of chance. Miss Josefa, witness to an important will, was summoned to testify in a court case when she had said she couldn't leave home for anything short of judgment day. A fortnight of rushing, due to the big garden party at Judge Leslie's ought to have been over, but was not through delay in getting the trimming for Madame Leslie's new gown. It came only the day before. By sitting up past midnight Miss Josefa got it on—it remained then only to get in the sleeves, pick out bastings, fold and send the fateful garment. All promised almost fearfully to do that. Gabbins, the caterer, was to call for the package around 10 o'clock. And she was so keen to keep her promise she hardly drew breath until she had the splendid creation smoothed, folded, tissue-wrapped, boxed and labeled.

She had done her work almost joyfully; she loved the stuff, the finest silky crepe periwinkle blue in color, touched here and there with cream white and gold. Only she had sipped as shears slashed and mangled it, she would have so loved to drape its softness about Madame Leslie's Juno proportions. That was her cherished day-dream—one she hid as mortal sin—one day to work her will on stuffs of the softest, rich-colored or faint and turn them into costumes but creations. Inartificially she felt her gift of finger tips.

Unnoticed by kind Aunt Josefa, when the caterer's car had gone roaring on its way, All sighed deeply between regret and relief.

Then she ate something, between a breakfast and a luncheon, tidied things beautifully, lay down for five minutes, she told herself, relaxing utterly, and went sound asleep, quite regardless of a wide-open front door. The sleep of weary, healthy youth is heavy. What wonder insistent phone calls did not arouse her? But roused she was, urgently, by a masculine voice shouting from the front porch, "I say, are you dead inside there? I'm coming in to find out unless you answer."

She sprang to her feet, the moral and pattern of a rushing confusion, to face young Ned Leslie, who stood inside the door wearing a puzzled frown. "I've come for you," he said unceremoniously. "Don't stop to find a hat every second counts now. See the time? Three o'clock past—the meter in a near faint, and all because she can't get in her new gown. Won't wear anything else; you've got to come and fix it. No matter how it happened—just come—come running."

All found herself hustled into his runabout and sat there, her heart beating like a trip hammer. What had she done? What could she do? She had certainly followed those dreadful patterns—they said put notches to notches—she had done just to the best of her eyesight.

She did not think of Aunt Josefa at the back of her mind and there was a vision of herself homeless, ragged, starving. Madame Leslie, head of everything in Milvane, To have mortally offended her was next thing to murder. But when consciousness reached this dreary point the runabout reached the side entrance to the Leslie mansion. In another minute All was half led, half carried up into a big, airy room, where Madame herself sat in a peignoir, tapping her shapely feet furiously, and scowling at something of periwinkled blue huddled on a chair beside her.

"What ails you? Here I've been calling an hour! Were you out? But no matter; see what can be done with this blotch, if anything!" she said jolly as the hall clock began booming the hour—4. All snatched up the blue thing, spread it out, gave a little smothered cry. "The sleeves; I—I must have set them in upside down."

"You can't take them out! No time," Madame flung back. All shook her head. Desperately she seized the shears lying handy and with two slashes rid the armholes, crying as she did it, "Put your dress on, quick!"

Something in her voice, desperate, more desperate agony, moved madly to obey, though she would have said the thing was impossible. It took but a minute to fasten the garment. It was perfect but for lacking sleeves. The perfection made her anger mount higher than ever. She was about to rate All furiously when something fell across her shoulders—a wide scarf of cream Spanish lace, soft and fine as cobweb, of a delicious pattern.

"I—I want your jeweled girdle," All gasped, rather than said. Ned obediently found it—he had stayed in compassion, fearing his mother's anger might get beyond bounds. Doffing All passed the gleaming tincture of gold, pearls and sapphires through a loop of the scarf; she folded it transversely, before putting it over the shoulders. With flying fairy fingers she tucked in the fragments of sleeves, then brought the scarf edges together upon the shoulders a little to the front.

"Brooches now—small ones," she commanded. Ned obeyed. She set the pins, also of sapphire and pearls, in place, then turned madam to face her image in the tall glass, not daring to speak, though her heart sank at the miracle she had wrought.

A periwinkle Juno also gazed in awe. Her fine arms had never showed to such advantage as in this mist of lace irregularly draped over them.

"No bracelets!" All commanded, her voice husky. Then the blue Juno found her voice, saying, "You've worked a miracle, my girl! How can I ever thank you?"

Six months later she found an excellent way—by giving the grandest reception Milvane ever knew to her son, Edward Perry Leslie, and his bride, Alice Lucy, born Lee. Aunt Josefa came to it, beaming all over, though she admitted privately to her new family connection she felt it almost wicked for All not to design more frocks. NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been patented by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 percent air and 6 percent common kerosene (coal-oil). The inventor, C. L. Johnson, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' free trial, or even to give one free to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

Advice By an Expert
My most embarrassing moment happened in my college days. We had a new Scottish professor who stuttered a great deal.

It delighted my chums to have me imitate him, so at dinner I repeated some announcements almost word for word, which he had given in class that afternoon.

Imagine my embarrassment when the professor walked up behind our table, looking directly at me, saying "You can stutter fine, Mary, but I would suggest a few lessons in Scottish dialect for a perfect imitation."—Exchange.

PLANES AND TRACTORS ARE BIG FACTORS IN ALASKA DEVELOPMENT

Remote Sections are Brought Closer to Seaports and Railways by their use

ANCHORAGE, Alaska.—By The Associated Press.—Remote sections of Alaska, weeks and months away from the railroad under the old transportation methods, are being brought closer to the seaports and railroad towns by the airplane and tractor.

Two sections of Alaska, the Iditarod and the great Kuskokwim country, reached from here in the winter only after a fifteen days' trip with a dog team, can be made in two or three days by airplane.

The tractor's part in the revolution of transportation methods comes in hauling ore and coal from the mines to the railroads. The army-type caterpillar tractor, dragging from 20 to 50 tons, breaks its own trail over the snow and is rapidly taking the place of the horse in many places.

Sections of the far away Alaska peninsula and Aleutian Islands with their oil possibilities, are soon to be prospected by airplane for a group of Anchorage business men. The machine will be of the hydroplane type and will alight in the rivers, bays and lakes for shore work.

One aviator, C. O. Hammon, is considering establishing a chain of stations in the interior to which he can carry supplies by the air route. At present the prospectors, on the "inside," generally spend their spring months hauling their supplies in over the snow trails. Hammon's plan is to carry supplies to established posts and thus save the prospectors the heavy task of pulling their food and equipment over the snow. The stations would be on the lakes or rivers so the plane could alight on the water.

WAR'S GREATEST HERO NOW WORKS AS A CARPENTER

Sergeant Samuel Woodfill and Wife

STEVENS, Ky.—Sergeant Samuel Woodfill, proclaimed by General Pershing as the greatest hero of the World War, is working here as a carpenter on the government dam in an effort to pay the mortgage on his home at Ft. Thomas, Ky. To do this, Woodfill was granted a three-months leave of absence from his army duties. He expects to use the entire proceeds of his labor to lift the mortgage. He is getting $6 a day. Application has been made by Lieutenant Colonel Fred G. Turner, of Ft. Thomas, for the promotion of Woodfill to the rank of warrant officer. This would enable him to retire on $150 a month. The rank is just below the commissioned personnel. Another application for promotion of Woodfill to a captaincy for retirement was introduced in congress, but it has been sidetracked.

ASYLUM SEEMED A REFUGE

An Austrian who had fallen suddenly insane in 1913, and spent his time in an asylum near Vienna, oblivious to the war and the revolution, was discharged the other day as cured. In his joy over his sudden freedom he did what most of the older Austrians would have done; he engaged a cab and had himself driven to the Prater. Arrived there he dismounted and asked what fare he had to pay.

"Eighteen thousand kronen," the driver demanded.

The cured man grew pale. "My dear man," he said, trembling, "this is terrible. I never foresaw that, and I have only a 20-kronen piece with me."

The driver looked at the gold coin and replied coolly:

"Well, what would you have? You get 18,000 kronen in change."

The cured man was nonplussed. "Please," he said softly, "take the other 18,000 kronen and drive me back to the asylum."

HAIRS GREAT HELP TO UNRAVEL MYSTERIES

In the consideration of many police cases such as mysterious murders, there is often present evidence in the shape of hair in the wounds or in the fingers of victims. Heretofore there has been made little use of this for the lack of knowledge concerning it. The importance of this subject thrust itself upon the notice of John A. Ford, of the police department of Berkeley, Cal., and he has made a very thorough investigation into the characteristics of hair of the human being and the lower animals. He has hundreds of specimens, many of which have been examined under the microscope and their characteristics noted. Rabbit hair on a hatchet with which a murder has been done was the means of tracing the crime to a man who owned the implement and who had used it to kill a rabbit with, shortly before the murder.

Will the Injunction Break the Strike?

A conservative New York daily observes that if the Daugherty injunction against strike propaganda were literally enforced, every striker would be "doomed to a life of silent meditation and prayer." Since the popular reaction to the injunction obtained, against striking railway men is likely to determine whether future officials will have recourse to it, it is of immense importance to show just where the press stand on it.

The leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST this week (September 16) presents all shades of public opinion. Labor leaders feel that the injunction "denies them free speech and peaceful assembly," and puts the Government in the role of a strike-breaker, while railway executives feel that the government has "gummed the works" just as they had the strike beaten.

The St. Louis Star and the Scranton Times agree that this injunction is a strike-breaking weapon, pure and simple, and the Indianapolis Union calls it "a highly dangerous precedent" which "can but in the end lead to deep resentment in the hearts of millions and to eventual Bolshevism, that is, hatred for the class favoring the injunction."

While many editors decry the injunction there are scores of others who feel that Attorney-General Daugherty was compelled to take just the action he did take.

The places of striking shopmen can be filled, but, we read in the Chicago Daily News, "burned bridges, wrecked trains, locomotives subjected to sabotage, peaceful workers beaten or killed—these prove the existence of active and widespread criminality." This leading feature-article in the "Digest" is illustrated by appropriate pictures.

CALEDONIA FAIR ATTRACTS CROWD ON THE LAST DAY

Over One Hundred Residents of La Crosse Attend Houston
County Exposition

More than one hundred residents of La Crosse attended the Caledonia fair on Friday, the last day of the Houston county exposition.

In response to the call of the Chamber of Commerce, cars containing delegations of fair visitors began leaving La Crosse between 9 and 10 o'clock this morning. The largest procession of machines departed at 12:30.

Caledonia has the best fair in the history of the Houston County association, with thrilling air stunts and other features to entertain the crowds. La Crosse visitors anticipated a delightful time this afternoon. Despite the heavy rain, the road was said to be in fairly good shape today, and local cars made the trip to Caledonia without chains.

YANKS FLEE AS SMYRNA IS PUT TO THE TORCH

General George Horton and his staff left as flames swept toward the building, taking with them the official codes and funds, together with the most important records.

An American destroyer sailed for Saloniki with 600 refugees and another later cleared for Athens with 400 persons, including some of the consular staff.

Thousands Massacred
LONDON.—By The Associated Press.—From 1,000 to 2,000 Christians had been massacred in Smyrna by the Turks before the fire which swept the Armenian and other quarters of the seaport recently evacuated by the Greek army. It is charged in semi-official and other Greek messages from Athens received here Friday.

Among the Turkish outrages was the carrying off of many girl pupils of the American Girls' college. It is alleged.

The Greek belief is that the fire was set by the Turks to conceal traces of their alleged misdeeds.

American Property Destroyed
A considerable share of the property loss from the fire, estimated at one billion francs (about $75,000,000 at present rate of exchange) fell upon American firms.

A message from Greek semi-official sources from Athens dated Thursday, reads:

"Absolutely trustworthy persons belonging to the foreign colonies at Smyrna and notably Americans arriving here on the destroyer Shapson, which also brought United States Consul General Horton, relate terrifying details regarding the massacre of Smyrna following the big fire which reduced the Armenian, Greek and European sections of the town to ashes.

Fire Started by Turks

"According to the general conviction the fire was started by the Turks to effect traces of their massacres and other crimes. Miss Mills, narrator of the American College for Girls, declares she saw an officer of the Turkish regular army enter a house carrying several cans of petrol. Soon after he came out the house burst into flames.

"Besides the pupils, about 1,300 refugees had been taken into the college, which was near the place where the fire started. The fate of many of the girl pupils is unknown and it is alleged they have been carried off by the Turks.

"When the Simpson left the flames had reached the quays and were menacing the foreign consulates.

Claim Heavy Loss of Life

"Prior to the fire there were massacres, which continued through the night, in the midst of the flames. It is impossible to estimate the number of killed. Dr. Post, an American who, with members of the American relief administration, made an investigation, expressed the opinion the number of victims up to the time of the fire amounted to 1,000. Other estimates from Athens run as high as 2,000. A large number of Christians are believed to have perished in the flames.

"Great quantities of provisions were destroyed, creating a food shortage. Several British establishments, the French College of St. Joseph and other French schools and the American Y. M. C. A. were destroyed. The outlying Greek and Armenian villages and the suburbs of Burja and Burnabat, where Europeans reside were burned."

Execute Green Sympathizers

An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Athens says: "The Turkish population in Smyrna continues to be master of the situation. A number of Turkish officials accused of having aided the Greeks, were executed in front of the government buildings.

"Refugees arriving in Athens from Smyrna, recount terrible stories regarding the state of the city, owing to the ferocity of the Turks. Immediately on their arrival the Kemal troops gave themselves over to massacre and robbery, and the Christian and the quay quarters were soon littered with corpses.

"A Greek journalist was shot dead after being dragged through the streets tied to the back of an automobile.

"An American passenger who reached Athens says he saw 900 Armenians forced by the Turks to embark on a lighter. They were then shot down from the shore, the bodies being left floating in the water. According to other passengers, prominent members of the British colony in Smyrna were similarly murdered.

Many Bodies in Streets

MALTA.—By The Associated Press.—Hundreds of bodies of victims of the Turkish massacres in Smyrna were lying in the streets of the city when the British hospital ship Maine left there with more than 400 refugees on board, it is stated by Reuters.

RADIO RELIEVES JAIL ENNUI

The days aren't so long in the District of Columbia jail since a radio receiving instrument has been installed. No, it's not a gift of the government. The prisoners "chipped in" and got it. Superintendent W. L. Peck is shown at the receiver.

Smyrna correspondent, who arrived here on the Maine, Friday.

"When I left Smyrna," he said, "the Turks were still pillaging and massacring and hundreds of bodies were lying in the streets of the town. Two large villages, five miles from Smyrna were on fire. The British had withdrawn all their patrols and several British houses had been requisitioned for Turkish officers.

Blames the Greeks

"The Christians," he added, "have been placed in a terrible position owing to the highly reprehensible action of the retreating Greek army in burning towns and villages. Thousands of Greek refugees, when I left, were lying in lighters in the port or on the breakwater in a pitiable condition without food or water, although the British had given them what assistance was possible. The rain and fire crops have been mostly lost. Many British firms are hard hit and British prestige is low."

The refugees on the Maine were mostly well-to-do but were penniless because of their precipitate flight.

Americans Missing

LONDON.—It is believed here that the American naturalized Americans reported missing in Smyrna are members of the American international college, which comprises the bulk of the American population in Smyrna. They were at the Paradise college compound, three miles from Smyrna, according to a telegram dated September 12. Several teachers of this college already have fled.

An American destroyer which has arrived at Piraeus, Greece, reports that the Turks entered the British consulate at Smyrna and killed an official who was assembling the archives says a Reuters dispatch from Athens today. Postmaster Wilkinson is also said to have been murdered as well as other Englishmen. Sir Harry Lamb, the consul general, is believed to have escaped on a warship.

U. S. Consul Safe

ATHENS.—An American destroyer arrived Thursday at Piraeus from Smyrna with the American consul and several other American citizens and refugees. A dispatch from Constantinople Thursday night said all the naturalized Americans in Smyrna were being taken to Athens accompanied by George Horton, the American consul general, on board the torpedo boat destroyer Simpson.

British Cabinet Meets

LONDON.—By The Associated Press.—The British cabinet has been summoned for Friday afternoon with the principal object of discussing the Near Eastern problem.

It is believed the meeting will have before it definite statements from the French and Italian governments indicating their respective attitudes toward the problem.

Opinions here are much divided regarding the Turkish status, the view, which is strongly supported by a section of the press, is that Great Britain's only interest lies in the freedom of the straits of the Dardanelles and that if this is assured she need not worry over the future position of Thrace and Constantinople.

Others are less easily satisfied and

PARTNERSHIP WITH EMPLOYEES BASIS OF SUCCESS IN BUSINESS

British Establishment Demonstrates that it Pays to Treat
Workers Well

LONDON.—At the mammoth establishment of "Lever Brothers, Port Sunlight," Lord Leverhulme has long demonstrated to the commercial world that it pays to treat employees well. The co-partnership idea has been the foundation of his gigantic business. He has just carried that idea a long step further.

Life insurance policies will be taken out by the company for every co-partner in the firm, from laborers to directors. The policies of ordinary members of the staff will be worth from 100 pounds to a maximum of 1,000 pounds; those of foremen from 200 pounds to 2,000 pounds, and those of managers from 400 pounds to 4,000 pounds. A system of grading is to be instituted to determine the amount of the policy allotted to each person. Devotion to duty and efficiency will lead to promotion to a higher grade and an increase in the amount of the policy, while for insufficient or careless work an employee may be graded down.

Should an employee retire with the company's consent, the company will try to arrange that he continue to pay the premiums. In the event of an employee leaving in any other circumstances, the company will try to secure that the assured person, if he so desires, shall continue payments at the ordinary rates without medical examination.

Under the unemployment scheme the firm will pay a co-partner such a sum as, with all allowances from other sources, will equal half wages. Benefit will be paid on a similar basis in the case of sickness extending over a week. This benefit will run for four weeks, and its continuance will then be considered.

Lord Leverhulme, explaining the scheme to a meeting of the employees, who adopted it with enthusiasm, said that it was not something in place of wages. The payment of trade union rates of wages was the basis of the plan, but the idea of the new proposals was to reward and encourage diligence and efficient service.

"We feel," Lord Leverhulme added, "that there cannot be any greater stabilizing effect than that of removing the dread of unemployment and removing the possibility of dependents being left destitute in the case of the death of the bread winner."

Lord Leverhulme spoke highly of the value of co-partnership. "The last two years of stress and strain that we have gone through in business have proved," he said, "that co-partnership is a sheet anchor in such a time. We may have adversity in the future, but I am certain that the co-partnership principle will come out triumphant and with flying colors."

PREACHER-SHERIFF PULLS TRAP THAT HANGS IOWA SLAYER

FORT MADISON, Wis.—By The Associated Press.—Winifred E. Robb, sheriff, preacher and former soldier, pulled the trap at 12 o'clock noon at the Iowa prison here Friday for the hanging of Eugene Weeks, convicted slayer of George Fossdick, Des Moines grocer. For some unaccountable reason Weeks' body dropped too far down into the trap and his feet dragged the ground for several minutes before he died.

"God bless you," were the last words of Eugene Weeks as Sheriff Robb placed the black hood over his head on the scaffold. Weeks mounted the gallows after declaring his innocence of the murder of Fossdick. Weeks was led into the little enclosure where the gallows stands at fifteen minutes to twelve. He was already there when the officials and witnesses arrived.

STATE TAKES STEPS TO HEAD OFF THE COAL PROFITEERS

Price Information Asked in Questionnaires to Docking Companies

PROSECUTION WILL FOLLOW EVIDENCE OF PROFITEERS

State Committee Will Aid those Who Can't Get Coal

MADISON, Wis.—Definite steps to head off profiteering by Wisconsin coal dealers were taken by the state committee Friday with the submission of a questionnaire to the 58 docking companies in the state asking for price information.

The docking concerns which handle practically all coal coming to Wisconsin are to furnish to the state committee an estimate of the average mine price of coal received by them, the average freight rate to Lake Michigan ports, the vessel freight and handling costs on the docks.

With this information the state committee will be able to determine whether local dealers are making exorbitant profits in sales to consumers. P. H. Pressentin, secretary of the committee, said, "Prosecution under the state marketing law will be commenced wherever there is evidence of profiteering," he declared.

Any persons in the state who encounter difficulty in obtaining coal should communicate with the state committee at Madison. Mr. Pressentin advised today, after learning that in some sections individuals had complained of inability to get fuel. The committee, he said, is in a position to render aid.

Arrival of 25,000 tons of priority coal at Lake Michigan docks was announced. One Green Bay coal company is to receive 11,000 tons, two Milwaukee companies 10,000 tons, and a Michigan company 4,000 tons of the shipment.

COMMITTEES TO BE NAMED TO MANAGE PARTY CAMPAIGNS

MADISON, Wis.—The political campaign to precede Wisconsin's general election, November 7, will be conducted under the management of state central committees chosen at party conventions here Tuesday, September 19.

The republican state central committee chosen by the party convention will manage the campaign of Senator La Follette, Governor Blaine and other candidates nominated at the primaries. Independent candidates will be required to carry on their own campaigns the same as in the primary.

Control of the republican party platform convention by the La Follette forces assures the selection of a central committee favorable to their candidates. It is generally accepted here that Robert M. La Follette, Jr., son of Senator La Follette, will head the party committee.

THE GREEK DEBACLE

By FRANK H. SIMONDS.

WASHINGTON. — The Greek debacle has two aspects. It must be viewed as one more incident in the long battle of the Greek race to establish and maintain a footing on the Asiatic shore and it must equally be seen as an incident in the struggle between Britain and France in the eastern Mediterranean.

Since the fall of the Byzantine Empire there has survived in all Greek minds a memory of the time when the Greek domination extended to the Cilician Gates, while ancient Greek history records that it was in defense of the Hellenic colonies on the Asiatic shore, near modern Smyrna, that Athens braved the wrath of the Persians and in the end won the great victory of Marathon.

Despite the collapse of the Byzantine world there has remained in Constantinople and in Asiatic Turkey a very great Greek population; in Smyrna alone the Greeks outnumber all other races combined. Since the liberation of a portion of ancient Greece in the last century, moreover, the dream of a revival of Byzantine glories, of the occupation of Constantinople and the east shore of the Aegean has been in the imagination of all Greeks.

The coming of Venizelos translated much of the Greek hope into reality. The first Balkan war in 1912 gave Greece Salonica, much of Macedonia and all the islands of the Aegean save those seized by Italy in the previous year, during the Libyan war. The second Balkan war brought Cavalta and much of the northern shore of the Aegean, while it turned Bulgaria out of Adrianople and thus left the road clear for eventual Hellenic inheritance.

When the World War broke, Venizelos unhesitatingly advocated alliance with the countries opposing Germany and when the Germans came south into Serbia, prepared to carry out the terms of the Serbian alliance and go to the aid of the Serbs. But at this moment the king intervened and kept Greece neutral, but in reality a secret ally of the Kaiser, who was Constantine's brother-in-law.

After a long period of maneuvering, the situation culminated in the expulsion of Constantine by French forces, Britain refusing to assist openly. Alexander succeeded Constantine and Venizelos promptly threw his country's aid to the allies. This cleavage hour shift restored Greek fortunes and after the German surrender Venizelos came to Paris and was able to harvest for his country vast gains.

Before the Paris conference had adjourned, Greek soldiers were permitted, even requested, to occupy Smyrna to forestall any Italian move. By the various treaties Greece acquired title to all of Thrace right up to the environs of Constantinople, together with most of the shore of the sea of Marmora. She also received a mandate for the Smyrna region and was promised northern Epirus, on the Albanian frontier, and all of the Aegean islands, save Rhodes, which the Italians had occupied.

But at this point there was a domestic political upset. The young King Alexander died as a result of a monkey-bite. Venizelos was defeated in an election and Constantine came back. Thus it devolved upon the king to make good in fact the claims which Venizelos had established in Paris.

Meantime, however, the international situation had changed. France never forgave Constantine for his responsibility for the murder of French sailors in Athens and saw the whole Greek affair as a British design to gain control not alone of the Aegean but also of Constantinople. Accordingly France now shifted sides and began to support the Turks. While the Sultan remained a prisoner of the allies at Constantinople and was forced to assent to the treaties depriving Turkey of Adrianople and Smyrna, Kemal Pasha broke away, established a government in Angora and prepared to resist the treaties.

The French, eager to avoid trouble with the Turks in Syria, made a separate treaty with Kemal which assured the Turkish leader of French support against the Greeks. Meantime the British openly backed the Greeks. Constantine was forced to make a supreme effort to maintain Greek possession in territories acquired by Venizelos and a large army was sent to Asia last year, where, after a victorious advance to the very gates of Angora, it was forced to retreat.

A TRUE RAT STORY

Auburntown, Tenn., 6-22-22.
Stearns Electric Paste Co., Chicago.
Dear Sirs: Mr. Robert T. Donnell of Auburntown, Tenn., came in our store the other day and wanted something to kill rats, so I sold him a box Stearns Rat Paste. And he put some paste on six biscuits that night and the next morning he found fifty-four big rats. And the second night he put out four more biscuits with paste on them, and the second morning he found seventeen more rats, making a total of seventy-one rats in two nights, and there were lots more that he did not find.

This is some big rat tale, but nevertheless, it is so. Just thought would write to let you know that your rat paste is good.
Respectfully, KENNEDY BROTHERS.

STEARNS' ELECTRIC PASTE

For Britain, however, the situation was complicated by the fact that the vast Mohammedan populations of the empire sympathized with the Turk and resented British policy. Both in India and in Egypt the Greek policy of the British aroused resentment and provoked trouble. Meantime, too, French support of the Turks, which was open, and Italian, which was a little more concealed, enabled Kemal to equip his armies and prepare for a new campaign.

Last March an effort was made at Paris to arrange a truce but the Turks insisted that they must have Adrianople as well as Thrace and the Greeks were unwilling to evacuate either. Finally a few weeks ago a conference was arranged to meet in Venice in the fall and settle the Eastern question. Hard on this came a Greek threat to seize Constantinople and a proclamation of Greek rule in Smyrna.

The present Turkish offensive is the response to this Greek declaration and the Turks obviously aim at having possession of Smyrna when the conference assembles in Venice. The collapse of the Greek army is due in the first place to the long strain. Greece has been at war practically without interruption since 1912 and her armies have been mobilized constantly. Constantine was welcomed home because it was believed he would bring peace, but instead, he has continued the struggle. Now the army has evidently abandoned hope and also refused to fight further.

At the moment the Greeks are concentrating their hopes upon the retention of Adrianople, recognizing that their Asiatic dreams have gone glimmering, but there is small prospect that the victorious Turks will consent to the permanent loss of this holy city. Meantime terrible massacres are certain to follow the Turkish advance and at least half a million Greeks are at the mercy of Turkish ferocity.

Only a few days ago Lloyd George made a speech in Parliament strongly championing the Greeks, but British support of the defeated can hardly be pushed much further, given the attitude of the Mohammedan populations of the empire. The whole affair, therefore, promises to turn out a very costly disaster for Britain and a severe diplomatic defeat for Lloyd George. The Turks are coming back to Constantinople and they are bound to have little but bitterness for the British allies of the Greek foe.

Thus two dreams, the Greek dream of restoring the Byzantine empire, and the British aspiration to restore British prestige at the Golden Horn by substituting the Greek for the Turk have gone down together.

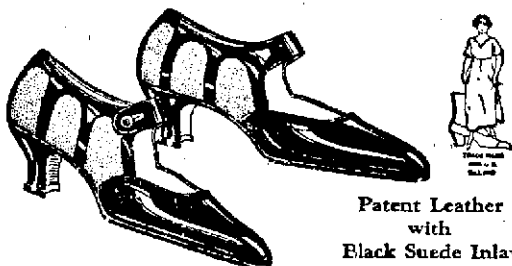

France and Italy will both rejoice at the Turkish victory, the French because it injures British prestige, the Italians because it postpones if it does not permanently wreck Greek prospects in the Near East and for Italy, Greece is the prospective rival.

What remains now to be decided is whether Venizelos will be recalled to save his country again and whether his return will lead to a second exile for Constantine, whose rule has cost his country so much.

TOURISTS IN U. S. CAPITAL PAY HOMAGE TO NATIONAL HEROES

More than Million People a Year
Visit Patriotic Shrines
at Washington

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Homage to Washington and Lincoln is being shown by more than 1,000,000 people a year. Washington's home, Mount Vernon, the scene of virtually all Americans and foreigners who come to Washington, is being visited as a shrine by the beautiful Lincoln Memorial, while the Washington monument is the most popular of the three shrines.

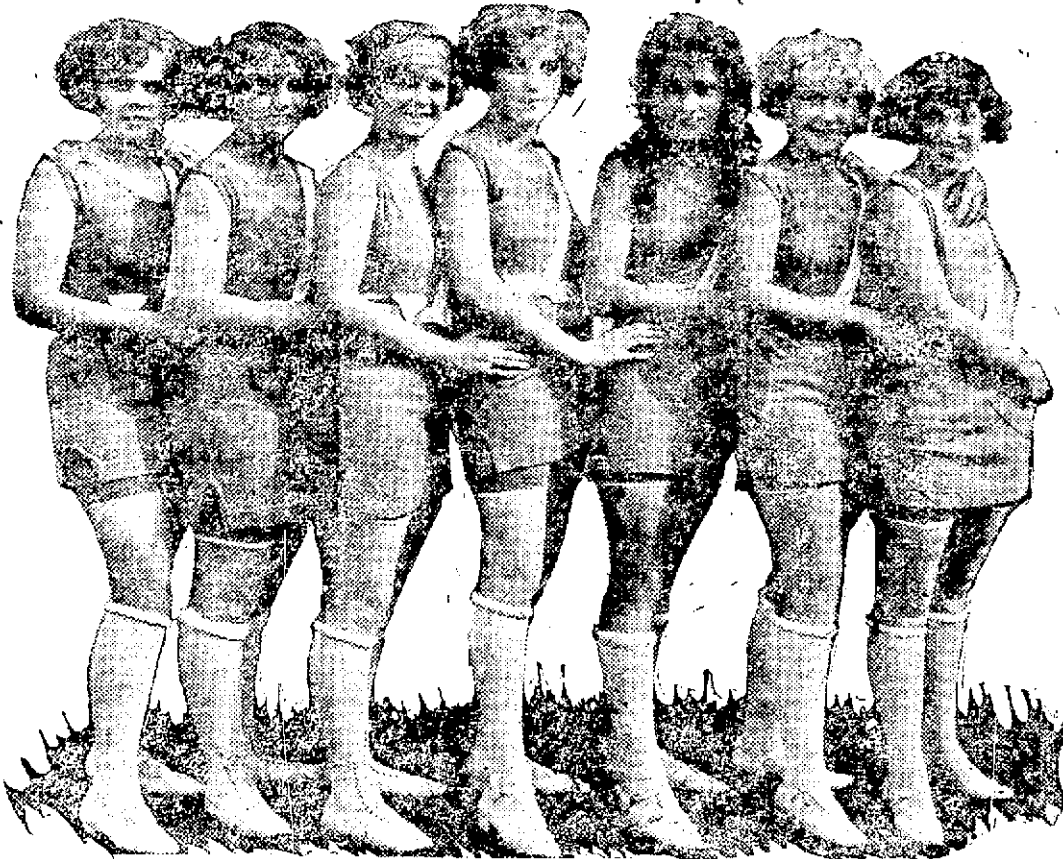

Visitors numbering 34,112 went during July to the top of the Washington monument, conveniently located a few hundred yards south of the White House. More than one-fifth of them climbed up the 898 steps in order to see the memorial tablets on the various landings inside the shaft. The remainder rode to the top in the electric elevator which has a capacity of 35 persons. More than 5,250,000 people have visited the top of the monument since it was opened for observation purposes October 9, 1888. No entrance fee is charged.

The Lincoln Memorial, recently completed and opened to the public, was visited by 41,385 persons during July. Located in Potomac park directly west of the Washington monument it is rather inaccessible for tourists. Visitors usually go there by automobile. On a recent Sunday 2,000 persons were recorded as entering the great building. It is rapidly becoming a shrine for tourists. No entrance fee is charged.

General George Washington's old home at Mount Vernon on the Potomac river in Virginia, 16 miles from Washington, long has been the most popular shrine from every part of the world, who go by steamboat, electric trolley and automobile. Kept as nearly in its original state as possible by the United Mount Vernon association, it is a delight to all Americans. During July approximately 25,000 persons visited Mount Vernon and during the fiscal year admissions numbered 225,000. A 25-cent entrance fee helps to keep the estate in first-class condition.

The house where Abraham Lincoln died, located opposite Ford's theater at 516 Tenth street, northwest, this city, is another shrine visited by many

KING NEPTUNE'S COURT OF BEAUTY

Who wouldn't be an old King Neptune, with all these beauties assigned to his court? They are seven Atlantic City girls chosen as his aides at the Atlantic City pageant September 6-8. Left to right they are: Dorothy Parsells, Marie Feyl, Gladys Middleton, Katherine Ryan, Beryl Williams, Mazie Saunders and Katherine Mansfield.

It was bought by the United States in 1896 for $30,000.

Danger Ahead
Speaking of "white mules" a couple of chaps were uncertainly flivvering their way home from a dance. "Bill," said Henry, "I waucha to be very careful. First thing y' know you'll have us in a ditch."
"Me?" said Bill in astonishment. "Why, I thought you was drivin'."

Flexible English
I have no sympathy with the criticism which would treat English as a dead language, a thing crystallized at an arbitrarily selected stage of its existence, and hidden to forget that it has a past and deny that it has a future. Parism, whether in grammar or vocabulary, almost always means ignorance. Language was made before grammar, not grammar before language.—Thomas Hardy.

RANKS OF THE G. A. R. GROWING THINNER AND ONLY 93,000 ARE LEFT

Crest of Organization's Strength
Was Reached in 1890 With 400,000 Members

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—Fifty-six years ago a small group of young men veterans of the Civil War, were banded together by Dr. Benjamin F. Stephenson of Decatur, Ill. After organizing, the name bestowed upon the body was "The Grand Army of the Republic."

Organization began April 6, 1866 and the first National encampment was held in Indianapolis beginning Nov. 26 of the same year. There are no authentic records to give the attendance at that meeting, out of which grew one of the most powerful and influential bodies ever welded together in the United States. It must have been small, however, for one of the first theaters in Indianapolis was used for the meeting place, and it held only a few hundred persons.

Membership campaigns by the Grand Army of the Republic continued from year to year, but an official record of the membership is available only so far back as 1878, when it was given as 31,016. It was about this time that the men who had fought and won a great war began to make their presence felt in all matters pertaining to the advancement of the country and as a result the G. A. R. increased in membership strength by many thousands. The crest of the strength of the organization was reached in 1890 and 1890, when 409,480 were reported in good standing. The peak was reached at that time as figures given at the encampment the following year showed a loss of approximately two thousand.

Death has caused a great furrow in the ranks of the old soldiers yearly since that time, until at present there are fewer than 93,000 of the "boys in blue" left. What few remain, however, are planning, according to national officers, to have a goodly representation present at the fifty-sixth national encampment to be held at Des Moines, Sept. 24 to 29.

The United States imported 426,847, 256 pounds of crude rubber in 1931. In Dutch New Guinea a girl's age is told by the length of her hair.

Put the Dinner On—
In 30 Minutes Turn Off the Gas

There is no good reason why you should spend so much time in the kitchen today, when you can employ a Chambers Fireless Gas Range to do all of the "watching" of meals.

You can get the meal all ready,—put it on the Chambers Range,—go about your other work or dress for a trip to the shops, or for an afternoon out, and when you're ready,—simply turn off the gas and go along.

The kitchen, with the meal cooking by Fireless, will run as smoothly as if you were there, and when you come home the meal is ready to serve.

An afternoon may be spent at tea, at the theatres, at your club, or cleaning up the house, without the slightest danger of neglecting the next meal, for in the scientifically insulated Chambers Range practically all kinds of cooking may be done by Fireless, without fuel, without your time and without attention.

You are free to employ your afternoons as you please: free from kitchen worries, free from day by day drudgery, and at the same time cutting down the cost of living.

Let us show you the many conveniences of this wonderful invention

WE WILL PROVE THE STATEMENTS MADE ABOVE AT OUR

LONDON WEATHER IS HARD EVEN ON CARVEN IMAGES

Walls of Parliamentary Houses With Statues Crumbling Under Ravages of Weather

LONDON.—The outer walls of the Houses of Parliament are crumbling. Hundreds of carven images, mostly of imaginary royal figures, have been unable to withstand the ravages of the weather, combined with the smoke-laden London atmosphere. They suffer also from the lack of respect shown them by hundreds of pigeons which roost on the eaves and sharpen their beaks on the noses of kings.

Scarcely a day passes but a monarch's head or too falls into Palace Yard. Not long ago a king's head was found in fragments on the terrace. During the coming recess scaffolding will be erected and many workmen employed, at a cost of 11,000 pounds picking off the loose bits. Thus may one man in a day uncover scores of kings.

Sir John Gilmour, who represents the government department that looks after public buildings, is of the opinion that none of the kings or other distinguished folk will be allowed to stick it out much longer on the outer walls of Parliament. "I think the day will come before long," he says, "when all the statues will have to be taken away. The situation does not agree with them."

Favor Law Enforcement
A straw vote on the subject of the enforcement of the prohibition amendment conducted in Cuyahoga county, Ohio, showed that 62 per cent of the ex-soldiers were in favor of stricter enforcement of the dry law.

"MARRIED BUDDIES" ONLY TO LODGE AMONG SELECT AT LEGION CONVENTION

NEW ORLEANS, La.—The old sign "Officers Only," which is said to have caused more A. E. F. "buck" privates to lose their patience than the entire German army, will have a new peace counterpart at the annual convention of the American Legion to be held here October 18 to 20.

"Married Buddies Only" will be the new order, word having gone out that only veterans accompanied by their wives will be housed in the residential districts of New Orleans. The remainder of the 150,000 visitors expected are to be billeted in buildings, hotels and other quarters. To comrades who were telling their wives that they could not make the trip to the convention because of "lack of accommodations," the committee has advised that married men accompanied by their wives will be given preference.

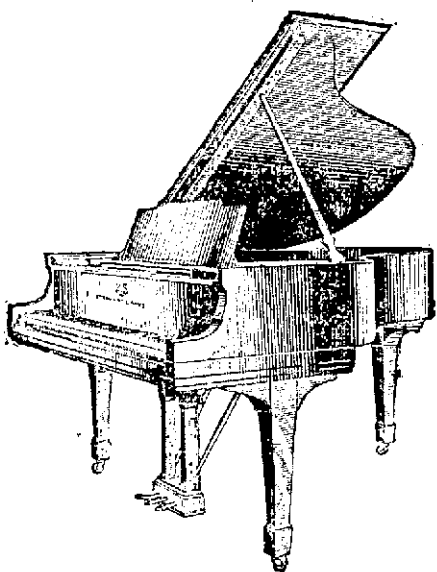

Distinguished guests and delegates from the more remote states will be housed in downtown hotels. Rooming houses, halls, business buildings and lodge rooms will be utilized to care for the thousands of single vets. Accommodations will be prepared for more than 14,000 in Pullman cars in the three large railroad yards of the city.

RESTRICTED USE OF ALCOHOL FACTOR IN LOWER DEATH RATE

Rationing System Results in Remarkably Low Mortality Figures in Denmark

MODERATE DRINKING AN AID TO HEALTH CLAIMS DOCTOR

Many Happier and Therefore Healthier is Assertion

LONDON.—All American doctors are regarded by foreign medical men as more or less expert concerning alcohol, both as regards the consequences of going without it altogether, and the various signs of inebriety betwixt and between.

Therefore, the assembled doctors at the meeting of the British Medical Association at Glasgow listened with great interest to what Dr. John T. McCurdy of Cornell Medical College, had to say about alcohol in its relation to human economy.

Each one of us in varying degrees, he said, has the same difficulty in meeting the world as the unfortunate who demonstrate their incapacity dramatically. The "normals" drugged themselves with cheap fiction; theaters and moving pictures; above all they forgot themselves in social intercourse.

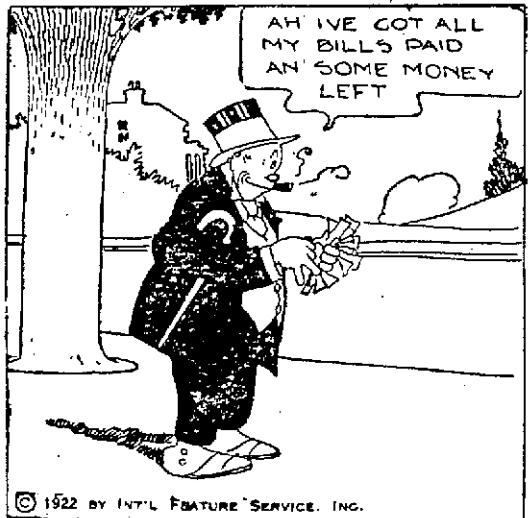

"When, however, a man is tired or oppressed with care," Dr. McCurdy went on, "how can he forget his obnoxious anxieties sufficiently to become social? If he be normal a small amount of alcohol will give the necessary relaxation. Conviviality is more important for the maintenance of our mental ability and effectiveness than we realize. Innumerable people are happier and therefore healthier because they indulge moderately in alcohol."

"We live in an imperfect world—imperfect largely because we have not yet gained the capacity to govern our own instincts. Alcohol is a crutch that man has discovered to help him with this disability."

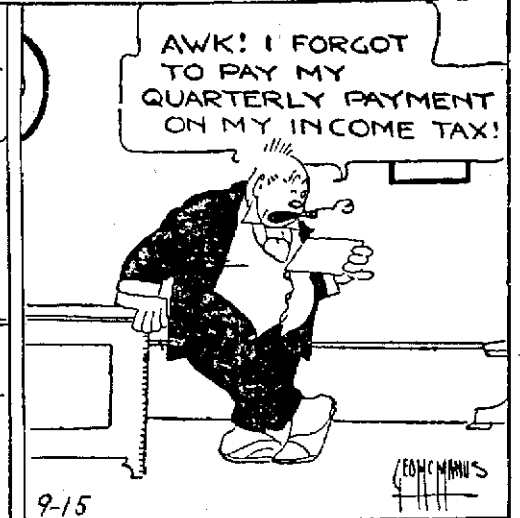

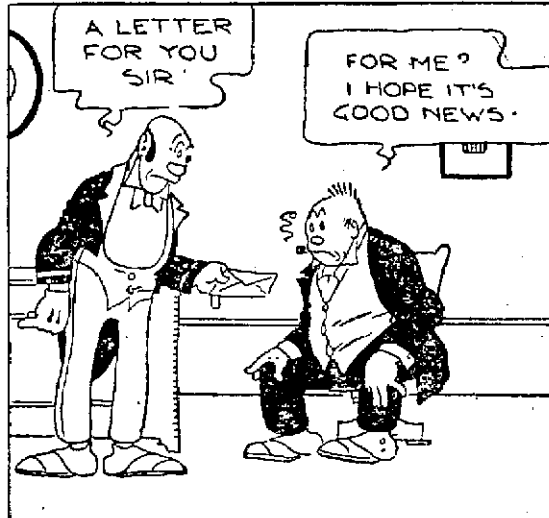

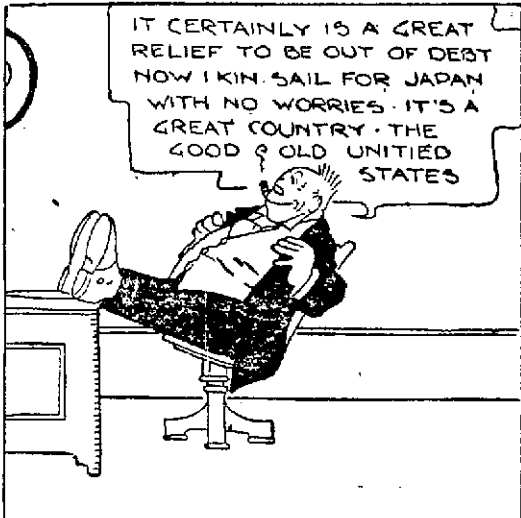

Dr. McCurdy dealt with what he called the "paranoid group." In them, he said, a drink or two brought out quarrelsome and dangerous tendencies. They were apt to imagine slights and insults. Frequently they were women haters, and affected the company of men almost exclusively.

"These men are not well-lapined people, and rebel at discipline or au-

SPARKS TELL OF THE STEEL'S CHARACTER

A simple method of approximate analysis of metal has been introduced in France recently based upon the character of sparks emitted when the steel is pressed upon a grindstone.

Each kind of steel gives its own characteristic shower of sparks, from which a practiced eye can judge of its hardness and quality. There are three principal forms of sparks. In the first, the incandescent particles make very fine, luminous threads. In the second, the shower is decorated with a few explosions of tiny "shells." In the third, the shower is made up of these little explosions. In addition to these forms, the expert classifies the sparks by their color, red, yellow or white in a great variety of shades. The grinding is of course done in a dark room.

A piece of steel containing a little carbon makes straight yellow lines; as the content of carbon increases explosive sparks appear and become

AGED MOTHER ASKS PARDON FOR YOUTH WHO KILLED FATHER

CHICAGO — Joseph Vacek, 27 years old, started back to jail yesterday on Thursday to finish serving sixteen years of a twenty-five year sentence for killing his father, John Vacek, who was shot and killed his father, who was quarreling with the youth's mother, of his escape from the prison, his marriage, efforts to learn a trade and the life of a baby six weeks ago, accused much sympathy but thus far friendly efforts to have him paroled have had no results.

Vacek's mother on Thursday wrote a letter to Gov. Small, begging him to free her son.

"Maybe he did wrong coming home that way," Mrs. Vacek wrote, referring to her son's escape from prison. "but it was all right, his killing me. He was so mean to me, I was used to it, but I'm poor boy, he was so young, he couldn't bear to see his mother and his father, or hear him call me names and tell me to get out."

Her son, she wrote, had been "a good boy" since his escape.

GIVES LIFE HISTORY IN 90-PAGE LETTER TO GOVERNOR BLAINE

MADISON, Wis.—Governor John J. Blaine has probably received thousands of letters during his term of office but he met his Nemesis Friday when he received a ninety page letter.

The letter, copying the old Roman form, was on tablets but instead of being hammered out with a chisel these tablets were regulation size for school children. The letter occupied five of these tablets which were mailed intact.

The personal history of the writer as a true exemplification of truth and democracy of government was the subject of this epistle. It is not probable that Governor Blaine will find time to read this volume, which will be turned over to the executive secretary for digest and answer.

DRAINAGE PROJECTS HELD A MENACE TO MISSISSIPPI FISH

Diking of Lakes and Bayous on Upper River Called Mistake
by Dr. L. H. Pammel

McGREGOR, Iowa—"I have been looking into the matter of the fish resources of the upper Mississippi," Dr. L. H. Pammel, president of the Iowa conservation board, said while in McGregor recently, "and have it on authority that $1 a lined foot is a conservative estimate of the value in a year of the fish in the upper Mississippi. This means that the fish life of the Mississippi is worth about $5,000 a mile annually to the states bordering it, without taking into consideration the fact that many of their inland streams and lakes are being stocked each year with fish salvaged by the resourcers in their work on the upper river. Besides fish, the clams and muskrats of the Mississippi are very important commercial assets to the bordering states."

These aquatic resources in themselves are of so great value to the upper valley states that it would be a great mistake, Dr. Pammel believes, to engage in drainage projects along the upper Mississippi, such as now proposed for the Wineshiek bottoms near Lynxville and Ferryville. In diking and draining lakes

or Your Money Refunded

Pay Nothing

—unless we grow hair. The Van Ess treatment is absolutely guaranteed. You are the sole judge. The warrant is signed by your own druggist. You assume no risk in making this test.

This New Way

Science discovers falling, lustreless hair due to simple infection (Sebum). Now quickly overcomes it. Hair actually grown on 91 heads in 100!

This is to offer you new hair—lustrous, beautiful, attractive—or money refunded. It offers, too, to stop falling hair in 3 weeks.

If we fail, the treatment costs you nothing. Your own druggist signs the guarantee. Hence you assume no risk.

Thousands of women have made this test. Results are amazing. The charm of wonderful hair is now available to any one who chooses to have it.

The Infected Sebum in Your Hair

Sebum is an oil. It forms at the follicles of the hair. Its natural function is to supply the hair with oil.

But frequently it becomes infected. It clogs on the scalp; clogs the follicles and plugs them.

Germs by the millions breed

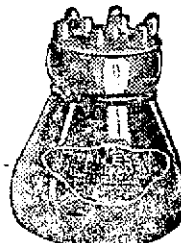

In it, then feed upon the hair. Soon your hair begins falling. You note too how lifeless it appears. In a short time, all the natural lustre and beauty are gone.

But—and note this scientific fact—remove the Sebum and the hair reverts back to the softness and brilliancy it displayed when you were a school girl.

The Van Ess treatment accomplishes that result. We know you will doubt it. So we guarantee it.

We urge you to give this new way a fair trial. It is folly not to test it; for, remember, you take no risk.

Go to any druggist or department store today. Ask for the Van Ess Liquid Sebum Massage. Written guarantee accompanies it.

SKELETON CONSTRUCTED FROM BONES FOUND IN THE FIRE

Seek to Prove its Similarity
With Man of Sailstad's Size

SUPERIOR, Wis.—Further testimony regarding the similarity of a skeleton constructed from bones found in the ruins of a burned cabin at Lake Nebagamon to the skeleton of a man corresponding in size to Edward J. Sailstad, was promised by counsel for the plaintiff when the fourth day of the Sailstad trial opened Friday. Mrs. Leona Sailstad-Richardson, believing the bones found in the razed cabin to be those of her first husband who disappeared the night of the fire, seeks to collect $10,000 life insurance from the New York Life Insurance company.

Dr. C. H. Bunting, University of Wisconsin pathologist, testified on Thursday that the bones shipped to him as the "remains of Edward J. Sailstad" were those of a male human being.

Dr. E. T. Finnean of Eau Claire, Sailstad's dentist, testified that X-ray pictures taken of Sailstad's right jaw in 1917 corresponded to the jawbone removed from the cabin ruins, in that the lower right first molar tooth produced in the X-ray was similar to the tooth found in the charred bone.

Cross-examination of the witness revealed that he could distinguish between X-ray photographs taken of Sailstad's left and right jawbone only by comparing one picture with the jawbone found in the fire. Reversing the comparison on the basis of this opinion, Dr. Finnean admitted that the pictures for the right jaw would correspond with his chart which, when examined in deposition last spring, showed that the lower right molar, the tooth in question had been extracted. The Eau Claire dentist said the marks indicating on the chart that the tooth had been extracted were erased because they had been erroneously placed there by his secretary.

Counsel for the plaintiff promised "the matter would be cleared up" Friday by Dr. W. E. Sullivan, professor of anatomy at the University of Wisconsin.

On the basis of reports made by Dr. Finnean and under the direction of Dr. Bunting, Dr. Sullivan constructed the skeleton from the bones found at Lake Nebagamon.

Vengeful Disposition
"This movie ought to be good."
"Why so?" asked the saturnine citizen.

"Harold Heartbreak, the peerless screen lover, leaps from a precipice 2,000 feet high."

"Does he break his neck?"

"Of course not. It's just a camera trick."

"Then that particular movie is not worth a quarter to me."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

WOMEN TO JOIN IN LEGISLATIVE PARLEY OF BADGER FARMERS

Association of Progressive Women Co-operating With Non-partisans in Conference

MADISON, Wis.—Farm women are expected to take part in the farmers' legislative conference called by C. C. Platt, state manager of the Non-partisan league to consider tax reduction proposals, when it meets here Monday. Mr. Platt says that the Wisconsin Women's Progressive association is co-operating with the Non-partisan league in supporting the conference.

The conference Monday will adopt resolutions urging change in the tax laws to relieve agriculture from some of the burden it now carries in the form of taxes. State officials, including Governor J. P. Blaine, will address the meeting.

Miss Ada James of Richland Center, president of the Women's Progressive association, has appointed the officers of the local clubs throughout the state as special representatives to attend the conference.

O. K. Johnson of Gratiot, successful candidate for the state senate against Senator Oscar Olson, is expected to be one of the speakers at the conference. A large number of acceptances are being received by the league to invitations sent out last week. Mr. Platt says. H. H. Peavey, nominated as republican candidate for congress in the 14th district, has signified his intention of being present. Lieut. Gov. George F. Comings is to preside at the session.

MATRIMONIAL COMEDY—RIVOLI

Mr. Married Man! What would you do, if after several years of married life, you suddenly discovered that you were not legally bound to your wife and you could go and come as you pleased, stay out all night if you cared and resume the status and rights of a single man? This question is answered for the average husband of long standing in "Is Matrimony a Failure?" a new comedy which was presented to pleased audiences at the Rivoli Theater yesterday. Just such a situation is the burden of the story which is an adaptation by Walter Woods of the popular stage play, "The Open Door," by Oscar Blumenthal and Gustave Kadelburg. T. Roy Barnes, imitable screen comedian, Walter Hiers, Lila Lee, Lois Wilson, Zasu Pitts, Tully Marshall, Sylvia Ashton and several others are included in a remarkable cast of picked players.

RIVIERA TODAY

Fifty years of active experience on the stage and screen! That is the record of Charles A. Stevenson, noted character actor, who plays the role of the old French uncle in Paramount's "Her Golden Cage," starring Gloria Swanson at the Riviera Theater. Sixteen years of that period, he spent playing one role in one melodrama! This was a leading role in "The Two Orphans," with Kate Claxton as star.

A glance at Mr. Stevenson's stage record is like looking over a roster of famous artists, producers and directors and a collection of the most successful dramatic productions of the past century. He began with John Bonbrant in London as a juvenile, and soon afterwards came to America and opened at Booth's theater in "Arab-Na-Poque," after which he toured America in Irish dramas.

"I AM THE LAW"—MAJESTIC

Wallace Deery is in his element again! The famous "bad man" of the screen, who has enacted more than one hundred roles of villainous character, is once again "thwarting the minions of authority" in "I am the Law," which divides honors with Vanille at the Majestic this week. As Fu Chang, the proprietor of a dance hall called "The Door to Hell," Deery gives a most impressive interpretation of a wily Oriental whose power is felt by all in the frozen wastes of the northwest. While Deery has portrayed the part of a scheming Chinaman before he gives one of the finest portrayals of his career in "I am the Law."

CASINO TODAY

Two vastly different types of women portray two different types of affection in "Blood and Sand," Rodolph Valentino's initial Paramount star picture. Lila Lee, youthful and ingenuous, evinces a love sweet and tender, while Nina Naldi, colorful and exotic, sweeps everything away with volcanic, tempestuous rush of romance.

The love of Rodolph Valentino for these women provides a series of interesting sequences in the Vicente Blasco Ibanez's story of Spanish life which Paramount has specially adapted for the screen.

"Blood and Sand," which is a Fred Nido production, will be the big feature at the Casino Theater today.

STRAND TODAY

There can be no doubt about the entertainment value of "The Fast Mail," the William Fox melodrama, now at the Strand Theater. It is action plus and contains enough thrills to satisfy even the most critical movie fan. "The Fast Mail," which was produced from Lincoln J. Carter's sensational railroad melodrama, is even better than the original play, which ran for twenty-two seasons. All the thrills that delighted the popular love for exciting melodrama are shown on the screen with the realism which could not be attempted on the stage.

There is not a dull moment in the entire film. Climax follows climax and thrill mounts on thrill during the course of this cyclonic melodrama.

REX INGRAM SCORES AGAIN WITH "PRISONER OF ZENDA"

Motion picture fans who look for exceptional photoplays will have an opportunity on Monday to see a picture which is one of the outstanding productions of the year, for on that day Rex Ingram's "The Prisoner of Zenda" will come to the Riviera Theater.

It is a story teeming with dramatic action, full of intrigue, romance and excitement. It concerns the adventures of an English gentleman, one Rudolf Rassendyll, who, because of a remarkable likeness to the ruler of the mythical kingdom of Ruritania, becomes for a time its actual ruler and wins the love of the Princess Flavia.

"The Prisoner of Zenda" is a Rex Ingram production for Metro, adapted by Mary O'Hara from the Edward Ross stage version of Anthony Hope's novel.

A cast of unusual excellence has been assembled for the production. Lewis Stone, Allen Terry, Robert Edeson, Stuart Holmes, Ramon Navarro, Barbara La Marr, Malcolm McGregor, Edward Connolly, Lois Lee play leading roles.

Does Broadcasting Make The Hair Grow?

Does broadcasting tend to promote the growth of the hair? This was asked by a spectator at a demonstration by the Homelaw Wireless Society.

The visitor was evidently impressed by the fine "crops" adorning the heads of the society's members. He was informed that the question was one for experts, but it was possible that the electric waves promoted the growth.

No one of the party knew of a bald-headed operator.

Your Portrait on Your Writing Paper The Paris smart woman is not smart unless she has the very smartest stationery. The latest craze is to have your portrait engraved at the head of your notepaper, the favorite color of which at present is coruscant. A variation is to have the portrait on the duty lining of the envelope. Most stationery nowadays is scented.

TURKS ARE READY TO BUY AMERICAN FARM MACHINERY

American Tractors Dominate the Market in Far East; Europe Can't Compete

CONSTANTINOPLE. — The vital need of machine power in Turkey has been obvious and urgent as a result of the exhaustion of the available supply of animals in the long-drawn wars, is the opinion of American Consul General C. E. Raynolds. "Most of the draft animals have been used for cavalry and artillery purposes, and many of them to supply food for the soldiers," he continued, speaking to the representative of the Associated Press. "Consequently a demand is arising for the tractor and the plow. American tractors as well as other American-made farm machinery, possess a fine reputation in Turkey, and at present dominate the market. The Kahrman (Gornian), Fiat (Italian), and Renault (French) tractors are in the field, but they cannot compete successfully with American machines which are being offered. These are superior in price, efficiency and simplicity, and the American engineers have been found to fill these requirements."

Similar considerations apply to other agricultural machines and to tillage implements, for which the demand is growing in the near east. These include reapers and binders, threshing machines, mows, harrows, outfitters and drills.

There appears to be good ground for anticipating American manufacturers of agricultural implements and machinery to pay increasing attention to the near eastern field. Mr. Raynolds went on. In the extension of this trade it is essential to give credit to dealers in order that they may be able to carry out the practical demonstrations which are necessary in these virgin markets, and to accommodate the farmers' financial situation. It is also important that measures be taken to have a full supply of spare parts on hand in suitable repair shops.

"The opportunities for the development of the Anatolian, Thracian and Syrian markets for agricultural machinery and implements are considered very good," the consul general continued. "The situation at the present time is adversely affected by the absence of highways and railways and other means of transporting farm produce to the central markets, but this defect is certain gradually to be remedied. No duty is charged for the admittance of agricultural machinery into Turkey. As a rule, general agencies are established in Constantinople with branches in other cities."

SIGN IN THE HEAVENS

The first time a monoplane, like a great dragon-like, sailed over a certain sleepy little Scotch town, a couple of dill-pots got the sense of their lives. "Lord save us, Sandy!" cried one, gazing upward in terror.

"What? What? And can ye see it, too, Tammas?" returned the other, aghast.

"What sign? It's very plain."

Sandy breathed a sigh of relief. "What ye like to see it by myself," he observed.

"What tak ye to it to be, Sandy?"

"I ken weel it's a sign."

"At what kind o' sign, Sandy?"

"What kind? A sign, meen't. Dinn ye kenly, Sandy, it's a sign y' and me, Tammas, must cut out the whisky."

LIQUID AIR TO CRACK HARD NUTS

The Chile nuts from South America have some excellent qualities but it has never been found possible to crack the shells without damaging the meat at the same time. United States government authorities applied liquid air to the problem. They did not freeze solid a piece of rubber and use it as a hammer, as is done in the classic experiment in physics, but they simply immersed the nuts in liquid air for thirty seconds and cracked them easily without damage to the kernel. Now the physicists are trying to find out whether this method can be applied commercially on a large scale. Chile nuts were used during the war to make charcoal for gas masks and the oil from the kernels is a valuable food similar to cocoa.

THE FUTURE OF THE RADIO

There seems to be a difference of opinion about radio. Dr. Inceforest who is responsible for a number of the important improvements in these installations says that in 1927 there will be 25,000,000 persons "listening in" to the various radio concerts and the editor of a paper devoted to the wireless art says that the figure is too low. On the other hand there are persons who already see a lack of interest in these aerial concerts. It is a fact that wireless installations are being placed in beachfront hotels, dental offices and barber shops, for the entertainment of patrons. The ability to see the sporting news in this convenient and prompt manner seems to be the greatest consideration for installing these installations.

UNTRUSTWORTHY

A Washington woman, despairing of finding an "American-made" egg, at last decided to take an untried and not suspected her own. "The very first morning the eggs came on the breakfast table looked as hard as the proverbial turkeys."

"I told you," said the mistress, "that I wanted those eggs boiled exactly three minutes."

"But, missus," remonstrated the maid, "I ain't got no clock."

"No clock? Why, certainly, you have the kitchen clock. What do you mean?"

"But, missus, ain't you forgot you told me only this morning the kitchen clock was ten minutes fast?"—American Legion Weekly.

CHINATOWN FAST DISAPPEARING AS FEATURE OF LONDON

Population of Two Thousand Chinese Has Now Dwindled to Less than Seven Hundred

LONDON. — London's Chinatown is fast disappearing. Four years ago 2,000 Chinese seamen were living within a stone's throw of the West India dock gates. Now it is doubtful whether there are 700, says the Daily News.

During the war London's Chinatown had its most prosperous days, for quite a number of British ships were manned by Chinese crews. But when the war ended the edict went forth "British crews for British ships," and as the Chinese were laid off they either went back to China or to some other country where their labor was in demand.

The result was that Chinese traders in Chinatown began to suffer, and one after another had to put up their shutters. Then suddenly there came a boom. A beautiful actress died while attending an opium smoking party. Stories were printed about the thrills to be experienced in Chinese opium dens and public attention was focused on the sinister alleys and byways of Chinatown. Restaurants in which Chinese dishes could be obtained opened here and there in Chinatown. Many Americans visited them to see how they compared with similar places in their own Chinatown and curiously led a number of English folk and various European visitors to do likewise. At night they were often filled to overflowing.

Commercially minded Orientals invested their money in the exploitation of what was a new craze and for a time they prospered exceedingly. But gradually the novelty wore off, the glamour faded, and people came to the conclusion that there was all sorts of cooking that was really much nicer than Chinese cooking. Visitors became fewer and fewer and now there are only one or two shabby restaurants left in London's Chinatown. What remains of it is but a shadow of its former self.

The "Widow's Year."

The year 1920 is revealed by the British Registrar-General to have been the year for widows. In 1911 the number of widows who married under the age of 25 was taken as 100. In 1920 the number was 630. The number was 630. The number of young widows remarrying also increased partly as a consequence of the great mortality of young married women during the influenza epidemic.

SAILORS SACRIFICED TO SAVE CREW OF SWEDISH SUBMARINE

Undersea Boat Submerges With Four Seamen Left on Deck; Two are Saved

STOCKHOLM.—Two men were drowned from a submarine under singular circumstances during the recent Swedish coastal fleet maneuvers. They were really sacrificed to ensure the safety of the whole crew.

The submarine Ilern, it appears, fired a torpedo at a movable target and then came to the surface in order to see the effect produced. Four of the crew came on deck, but trouble suddenly occurred in the ballast tanks, and the commander immediately closed the hatch and submerged, leaving the four to their own resources.

Three of the men were washed off the deck, but the fourth clung to the submarine's periscope. The submarine rose again quickly and this man was rescued. Two of the men in the water, including the son of Admiral Ancker-Jensen, were caught in the wash of the battleship Sverige and drowned. The other man was picked up by a naval cutter.

It is reported that the entire crew of the submarine would probably have been lost if the commander had failed to submerge immediately the trouble was discovered.

WAGE INCREASE IS GRANTED TO COPPER MINERS IN MICHIGAN

HOUGHTON, Mich.—A wage increase of 15 per cent effective Saturday was announced Friday by the Copper Range Consolidated. It affects all employees of the Champion, Baltic and Tri-Mountain and Stamp Mills.

Home Town Criticism

Chauncey Depew tells this one on Melville E. Ingalls, who as a railroad president had combined and rehabilitated several bankrupt lines. Ingalls returned for a rest to the little Maine village where he was born, and at the hot stove senate in the general store an old farmer said: Melville, they dew tell that yer gettin' a salary of nigh on to $10,000 every year." Ingalls, who was drawing several times that sum, admitted the ten thousand, whereupon the old farmer observed: "Well, that jes shows what luck an' cheek will dew fer a feller."—Boston Globe.

Jekyll and Hyde

There was a curious coincidence, which appears to have escaped attention, in the Times "In Memoriam" notices on Wednesday. The name of Edward Forester Hyde who died in 1920, is immediately followed by that of John Jekyll.

STRIKING SHOPMEN ARE NOTIFIED OF LABOR AGREEMENT

Milwaukee Employees Warned Not to Return to Work Until Orders are Received

A telegram was received by the striking shopmen of the C. M. & St. P. railroad from one of their officials in Milwaukee, stating that a basis for an agreement had been reached with the Milwaukee road, but cautioning the men not to return to work until orders had been received from the headquarters of the system federation.

A conference was on Friday at the headquarters of the Burlington strikers in Union hall concerning strike measures, but no definite line of action had yet been agreed on at noon.

"Poor chap!" said the sympathetic clubman, as a tired-looking fellow member passed out of the door. He suffers terribly from nerves. "I never knew he had them," said his companion. "He hasn't," said the sympathizer. "They're his wife's!" — Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Illegitimacy Big Problem of Uncle Sam's New Child Welfare Bureau

By HARRY B. HUNT
WASHINGTON.—Thirty-two thousand white children are born out of wedlock in the United States each year.
What happens to these children branded as illegitimate?
What is society's responsibility?
These are outstanding questions in a problem claiming the attention of sociological students, and which has been the subject of an inquiry by the Federal Children's Bureau.
Miss Katherine Lenroot, daughter of Senator Irvine Lenroot of Wisconsin, is in charge of assembling and analyzing the data gathered in this investigation.
"Social agencies have become more and more conscious that a large proportion of their work may be attributed to illegitimacy," says Miss Lenroot. "They have begun to question whether society has not a peculiar responsibility toward these children, who from birth are deprived of a normal home life.

The inquiry showed that few realize the vast number of children born out of wedlock in contrast with the occasional contest over the parentage of a few children in which persons of social prominence or large fortune are named.
Miss Lenroot said the handicap of children born out of wedlock may be partly overcome by these means: Equalization, as far as practicable, of the status of the illegitimate child with that of the child of legitimate birth.
Recognition of the state of its fundamental responsibility for the welfare of these innocent victims of social maladjustment.

Protection of life and health, beginning in infancy.
Safeguarding a child's right to a mother's care.
Support for the child from the father.
Homes for children whose mothers cannot care for them.
Care for those handicapped by defective heredity.
"One of the objects of our study," said Miss Lenroot, "was to determine the significance of the individual child born out of wedlock. The psychological factor was found to be of very great importance.

"These children are in special need of protection. The need begins before the child is born and frequently extends through childhood. The social stigma and the mental conflicts caused by knowledge of the circumstances of birth and by the actual or imagined degradation of parents may be expected to lead to restlessness, morbidity, or even to marked delinquency and misconduct."

Twenty-one years ago Guglielmo Marconi invented the wireless.

Still Penalty
"Perhaps the penalty for bootlegging is not severe enough."
"It isn't. A bootlegger ought to be made to drink his own liquor."

LIMIT PLACED ON PARTIES GIVEN BY U. W. SORORITIES

Rushing at University also Regulated Under Action Taken Last Spring

MADISON, Wis.—Sororities at the university of Wisconsin have now been officially restrained in the number of parties and amount of money that can be spent during the rushing season when they pledge their new members. Action taken by joint meeting of sorority representatives last spring is now in effect, which prohibits all rushing prior to Saturday, Sept. 23, three days after the university opens. On that date each chapter will be hosted at a tea from three to six.

From Saturday night to Wednesday afternoon Sept. 27th, rushing is prohibited. On Wednesday afternoon each sorority will have an informal party and on Friday night, each group may give a formal function. The next Saturday is a day of silence and on Sunday, the chosen freshmen women will be notified by the dean of women of their opportunity to join the sororities that had invited them. From the list of sororities submitted each girl who has been selected, the girl will make her choice and the rushing season will be over.

POLYNESIANS MYSTERIOUS RACE

The area occupied by the Polynesian race in the Pacific is not less than 2,000,000 square miles. But the land surface within this area is relatively small and varies from New Zealand with its 100,000 square miles to little atolls barely large enough to resist the waves. The branches of the race are scattered from Hawaii in the north to New Hebrides in the south, from the New Hebrides in the west to Easter Island in the east, and their homogeneity is a remarkable feature. Nobody who has studied their customs, their language and their legends can doubt that they have a common origin. Whence came the Polynesians?

BIG FALLING OFF IN INCOME TAX COLLECTIONS REPORTED BY BADGER TAX COMMISSION

MADISON, Wis.—That the income tax collected for the year 1922 may fall as much as 35 percent below the amount collected for the year of 1921 was the startling condition disclosed here by a preliminary auditing of several thousand income tax returns by the state Tax Commission. These preliminary returns indicate a falling off in the pockets of companies and corporations quite generally, that may result in a decrease in the amount of tax collected for the first time since the income tax law went into effect in 1912.

While officials of the state tax commission refuse to be interviewed on the basis of these preliminary audits it was generally admitted that a decrease is expected. The total income tax levy for corporations and individuals for the year 1921 was $12,658,307.19. Of this amount $7,574,650.84 was levied against corporations and $5,084,256.35 was levied against individuals. The personal property offsets however, amounted to $5,134,642.29 which reduced the tax collections to $7,019,041.31.

Should the cash collected from this source from the year 1922 fall 33 percent the state would receive but a little over four million dollars, which would be comparable only to the year of 1920 when industries suffered a severe setback as a result of war deflation.

SIXTH FOR GIANTS CUBS TRIMMED, 7-6

Nine Pitchers Used in Close Battle; Ryan Twirls Good Game

REDS EVEN UP SERIES BY WHIPPING DODGERS, 7-3

Adams Holds Braves; Shutout for Pirates

NEW YORK.—The New York Giants won their sixth straight game on Thursday, defeating Chicago in a battle of pitchers, 7 to 6. Nine boxmen were used in the game, five by the world's champions. Ryan did the best twirling for New York, striking out five men in the three innings. He was taken out in the fifth for a pinch hitter, Smith, who came through with a single, with the bases full, driving across New York's last two runs. Virgil Barnes, Scott and Jonnard had a hard time holding this advantage. The Cubs out-hit the Giants, 15 to 7, but bases on balls helped New York in the scoring. The score:

Chicago	012 001 200—6
New York	040 030 007—7

Batteries: Alldrich, Kaufman, Jones, Stuchland and O'Farrell; McQuillan, Ryan, V. Barnes, Scott, Jonnard and Snyder.

REDS, 7; ROBINS, 3
BROOKLYN.—Cincinnati squared up the first two games of the series with Brooklyn by winning on Thursday, 7 to 3. Grimes was wild and hits were lunched on him throughout. Burns had the forefinger of his right hand mashed by a line fly in the fifth inning and retired. Danforth hit a home run over the right field wall in the ninth with none on base. Score:

Cincinnati	200 112 001—7
Brooklyn	000 020 000—3

Batteries: Couch and Hargrave; Grimes and Miller.

PIRATES, 8; BRAVES, 0
BOSTON.—Babe Adams held Boston to five hits on Wednesday. Pittsburgh winning, 8 to 0. Miller was knocked out of the box in the sixth when he forced in two runs with a pass and Russell then cleared the bases with a double. Catches by Traynor and Higbee were sensational. Score:

Pittsburgh	011 105 000—8
Boston	000 000 000—0

Batteries: Adams and Schmidt; Miller, McNamara, Branton and O'Neill.

CARDS, 6; PHILLIES, 4
PHILADELPHIA.—St. Louis made it three straight over Philadelphia by taking Thursday's game, 6 to 4. Stock had five hits, one double, in as many trips to the plate. Cy Williams hit his twenty-fourth home run of the season in the third inning off Jess Haines. Hornsby doubled in the first inning, running his total of hitting in consecutive games to 29. Score:

St. Louis	013 110 000—6
Philadelphia	002 101 000—4

Batteries: Haines, Barfoot and Ainsmith; Wemert, Reban and Peters.

STEENBERG AND DR. HANSON WIN HORSESHOE SERIES

O. C. Steenberg and Dr. Hanson won four out of five games in a horseshoe pitching series against Frank Forbes and Archie Olberg Thursday night. Dr. Hanson, in addition to losing eleven shoes over the peg, did the unusual stunt of hooking a double finger. There were a total of 18 ringers made in the series. Dr. Hanson getting 11, Steenberg and Olberg each 3, and Forbes 1. Forbes and Olberg won the first game, 2 to 14, while Steenberg and Dr. Hanson won the other four, 21 to 15; 21 to 9; 21 to 13 and 23 to 13.

The only definite conclusion reached so far according to Manager Bedessem is on the line-up to be played by each team.

Dates, umpires and the number of games to be played are still very much in the air, he said, according to his understanding of the situation thus far.

CROWD OF BOWLERS ON DECK AS ARCADE ALLEYS ARE OPENED

George Bollrud Starts off With Alley Record of 256 on Thursday Night

The new Arcade bowling alleys opened with a bang Thursday night with a big crowd of bowlers on deck to occupy the alleys after the dedication exercises were completed. George Bollrud started off the season and initiated one of the alleys with a record of 256.

For the official dedication of each alley there was appointed city officials and heads of bowling leagues in the city to roll the first game on each. Those who dedicated the alleys by rolling a single game were: Alderman W. P. Roellig, acting mayor, F. C. McClachlin, chief of the fire department, John B. Webber, chief of the police department, William Aldrich, head of the city bowling league, John Fuchs, head of the commercial bowling league, Charles Hartman, of the Eagles, Rev. Stuart, sponsor of the church athletic league, John Burns, Arthur Bruha and R. L. Bangsberg. No sooner were the dedication exercises completed when anxious bowlers flocked on the runways and began tuning up for the coming league competition. Those who rolled scores of 200 or better last night were: George Bollrud, 256; R. Gibson, 231; T. B. Turney, 228; William Shnda, 223; Elmer Warming, 206; Wm. Aldrich, 206; Bud Hanson, 201; Ray Sherven, 203 and J. J. Griest, 204.

Nights for league bowling have been settled upon with the exception of the women's bowling leagues. It was anticipated to place this schedule on Monday night. Other leagues will bowl on the following nights: City league Fridays; Commercial league, Wednesday; Elks' league, Tuesday; and the church athletic league, Thursday nights.

STRICT ENFORCEMENT OF FILLED MILK LAW PROMISED BY EMERY

Manufacture of Milk Compound
Practically Stopped But Sale
Must Be Prohibited

MADISON, Wis.—Immediate and strict enforcement of the Wisconsin statute prohibiting manufacture or sale of filled-milk was undertaken today by J. Q. Emery, dairy and food commissioner, who issued instructions to his inspectors requesting them to give particular attention to provisions of the law.

Manufacturing concerns are said to have stopped making the product of skimmed milk and coconut oil in most instances. The prohibition of sale of the filled-milk is expected to require greater attention from the dairy and food commissioner.

The letter sent by Mr. Emery to his inspectors follows:

"You are instructed to give in connection with your regular inspection work immediate and particular attention to the enforcement of the terms of filled-milk law which makes it unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to manufacture, sell or exchange any condensed skim milk to which has been added any fat or oil other than milk fat either under the name of said articles or products or derivatives thereof or under any fictitious or trade name whatsoever.

"The validity of this statute having been contested in the Supreme Court of Wisconsin and its validity having been fully sustained, no delay in complying with the terms of this law by manufacturers or dealers is to be overlooked.

"The following brands have been found on the Wisconsin market and for the presence of which you should make careful inspection, namely: Hebe, Carole, Silver Key, Nido, Enzo, Naja, and Nika. If you find any of these brands on the market you should purchase samples and promptly submit them to the laboratory for chemical analysis, being especially careful that the said purchases shall meet the full requirements of all legal technicalities. Prosecution for violation of the law will be promptly instituted."

"That's a lake," he contradicted. "It's a keep-on-going."

SON'S FAME SHADES RENOWN OF FATHER

Activity in the radio field has brought such marked success to a son, that his fame threatens to eclipse the worldwide renown of his father.

The son is John Hays Hammond, Jr. He is the inventor in the Hammond family. His father is the universally known mining engineer who has made a brilliant fortune from his many successful mining and other engineering projects.

Both have reached the realm of renown, but where one has seen his most glorious day, the other is still going on to greater heights. The elder Hammond is remembered for what he has done for the world. The son hopes still to achieve the one great thing that will put his name down as one of the most famous in scientific history.

Yet, at the age of 34, young Hammond has a list of nearly 250 inventions to his credit, many of which were considered epoch-making at the time of their introduction to the world.

In his studio in the tower of Madison Square Garden, New York, he has brought out designs and models of radio-controlled torpedoes, guns and ships which have caused radical improvements in our naval defense.

Hammond Sr.

The elder Hammond was nearly 40 before he established his fame in the engineering field. It was not until

JOHN HAYS HAMMOND—JR. AND SR.

1900, at the age of 45, that he became associated with an important financial group in the United States, and made a marked success out of his hydro-electric enterprises, irrigation projects and mining activities.

The son was 22 when he was graduated from the Sheffield Scientific school at Yale with a B. S. degree and started immediately on his research work. The U. S. Coast Defense Service now has exclusive rights to his torpedo which is controlled by wireless energy from coast fortification.

The latest battleships of the U. S. Navy have included in their construction an automotive system of torpedo firing, invented by young Hammond. Later ships will have a radio system by which not only torpedoes, but other ships, could be controlled. This also is a product of the inventive brain of the Junior Hammond.

Designs Adopted

During the World War the allied armies used incendiary projectiles—designed by Hammond Jr. Most of the coast states have adopted a system of coastal patrol by airplanes—devised by Hammond. The Bartlett expedition for polar exploration decided on a method of aerial coast surveying—designed by Hammond Jr.

In the radio field, young Hammond is one of the leaders. When the battleship Iowa was used as a target for other ships, while under complete radio control, it was another success chalked against the name of John Hays Hammond Jr. For the system of controlling the ship by radio was his.

He devised another system of selective radio telegraphy and after thorough tests conducted by the U. S. navy, signal corps and army, it was declared practicable. Only recently he perfected this system, and announced a plan by which radio messages could be sent in complete secrecy.

ENGLAND'S FLOWERS BY AIRPLANE

London makes use of a great many flowers and the country districts cannot keep up with the demands so that it is necessary to send to Europe for blooms. Holland supplies a great many flowers but heretofore much time was lost in their delivery but now the Dutch florists are sending their flowers daily to London by aeroplane. The flowers are cut at night, packed early in the morning and sent by motor car from the Boskoop flower growing district to the Waalhaven aerodrome, near Rotterdam. They arrive at Croydon, England, at 1:30 p. m., and from there are dispatched by motor car to the London florists. Boskoop flowers are thus put on sale simultaneously in the London and Dutch shops. About 100 kilograms of flowers per day are to be transported this way.
